Maybe, like many people, you're not really sure about blogs.

You don't know what a ping is. RSS is Really Something Secretive. And TrackBack is what you do when you've misplaced your car keys.

Well, that's not a problem.

In this guide I demystify these blogging terms and many more. While a little knowledge of computers and Internet will be helpful, I do not assume that you are a computer or programming expert.

Consider these examples as you imagine what you could do with a blog...

- In 2005 Jason Calacanis - the man behind Weblogs Inc - claimed to be on track to earn $1 million in AdSense revenue alone.
- A blog certainly has some serious clout - even if it called Boing Boing - when it has 1.7 million readers a day.
- In the Arabian Gulf, a new breed of Arab activists are using blogs to make a positive, political difference.

The fact is, blogs are a great way to write what you want, to make an impact, and to earn some cash in the process!

Dear Friend,

If you dream of blogging for money, then I want to help you.
